The Gate of Heaven is Everywhere

The Eternal Now

Jesus' primary metaphors for the Eternal Now are "the Kingdom of God" and "the kingdom of heaven." He is trying to tell you that there is a place where you can live connected to the Real and to the Eternal. That place is simply the here and now, which always feels like nothing, like nowhere (now-here), but is where everything always happens! So be sure to be here— and not somewhere else!

The reason we can trust the Now so much is because of the incarnation and because of the divine Indwelling. The Word has become flesh, God has entered into the human, God is here and everywhere!

John Duns Scotus, one of the great Franciscan teachers, said that God did not create genus and species; God only created what Scotus called "thisness," in Latin "haecceity." He said that until you can experience each thing in its specific "thisness," you will not easily experience the joy and freedom of divine presence. In other words, I can't be present to all women in general. I've got to be present to this woman, right here, right now, in her specificity and particularity, and, maybe even her eccentricity. Might that be what love means?

In that way, the here and now has the power to become the gateway and the breakthrough point to the universal. The concrete, the specific, the physical, the here and now—when you can be present to it in all of its ordinariness—becomes the gateway to the Eternal. I call this the very foundational Christian principle of Incarnation. It is the great and unique insight that we offer to all world religions, yet we ourselves have often not celebrated this immense breakthrough.

SHARe Knowsley News Update

In September we are starting English lessons in Huyton;
Tuesdays 11am—1pm Wednesday and Friday 12.30—2.30pm
We are looking for volunteers to help in the classes as some people may need a bit more one to one support.
If you are interested in helping in any way at all please get in touch with Margaret Roche either by email: shareknowsley@gmail.com or by phone: 07479 913 914
Successful applicants will be subject to DBS checks.

Unfortunately ASDA are stopping their Price Match Guarantee so we will no longer be needing your receipts.
These will be hugely missed as some weeks we have made savings of up to £20 on the fresh fruits and other basic foodstuffs that we purchase for the drop-in.
Please continue to support us - the need just continues to grow as we are constantly welcoming new arrivals.

We are very short of toiletries at the moment so any donations will be greatly appreciated.

Thanks again to everyone for your ongoing support

Margaret
